Cumberland House Cree Nation Food and Medicine Forest

Project Forest is working with your community to rewild sacred land.

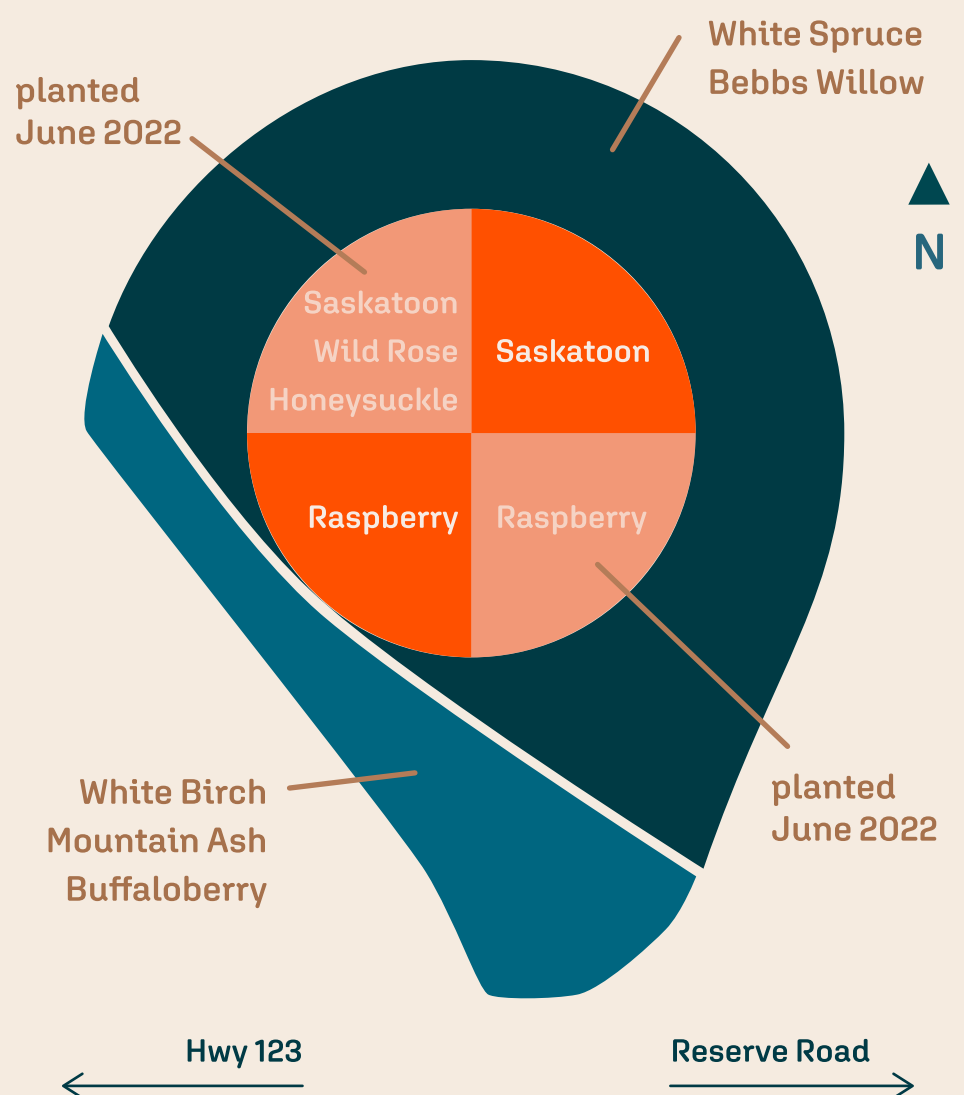

In partnership with Cumberland House Cree Nation and Cumberland Wood Products, Project Forest will return to the Nation this spring to continue planting the Food and Medicine Forest. We will be planting more berry plants, shrubs, and tree species to increase the plant diversity of the forest and provide more opportunities for traditional and cultural practices.

To learn more about how you can get involved, contact Nadina Gardiner, ngardiner@climatesmartservices.ca
